COUNCIL DIVIDED

On Hitching Rack Question and Refer it to the Street Committee.

A recess meeting of council was held Monday evening, and a good long meeting it was, lasting until the electric lights were out. The members of this body had their first taste of some of the trials and vexations of a councilman, and from the appearance at present the meeting Monday evening is only a sample of what is to follow. The ball was started rolling when a petition was read, signed by the firm of Kerr & Hastings Bros., asking that they be given a hearing on the question of the abolishment of a hitching rack in front of their property. The rack having been ordered moved at the last meeting of council at the request of Mr. T. B. Andrew, he setting forth that the place was a nuisance.

At the Monday evening meeting it developed that the motion to take down the rack was not worth the paper it was written on from the fact that the years and mays were not called, this being necessary where there was expenditure of public money.

The request that the above named firm be heard was granted. Messrs. R. F. Kerr and J. E. Hastings being present and stated their side of the case. They advocate that the rack is not only essential for farmers who stop at their place but for parties who come to the express office, or to meet friends from a train. In fact it is the only rack in that part of the town. The firm claims that the rack has been in use at this point for over twenty years and that it was established at the request of a former firm of which Mr. T. B. Andrew was a partner at that time. The question brought out considerable comment and discussion among the members of council. To an outsider the whole question from start to finish has all the earmarks of what is known as a "back yard fight" among neighbors, in which "spite work" predominates from a jealous nature. It is not right that public property be drawn into these "spats" in order that the corporation stand the expense in settling such affairs. A motion by J. H. Andrew that money be appropriated out of the street fund for the removal of the rack did not meet with a second as there is no money in this fund. The street committee will investigate and report later.

A bond signed by Messrs. John McLean and C. W. Crouse was read and accepted for street commission, Robert Ford.

R. W. Kannon was reappointed as night watchman for another year.

A committee was appointed to go over the village ordinances and report as to what ordinances conflict with the new code.

The levy committee reported the following amounts for the different funds next year. Interest and Sinking fund $800; fire $450; street $350; police $600; general $700, total, $3000. There was no levy for the light fund as there is sufficient on hand for light fund next year.

The clerk was instructed to advertise the sale of four bonds of $200 each bearing 5 per cent interest. They will be sold to the highest bidder.

The ordinance for a watchman at the Main street crossing was amended so that there must be a man on duty from eight o'clock in the morning until eleven o'clock at night. It will be forwarded to the railroad company for its approval. A signal will be put up at the Miller street crossing to be operated by the watchman at Main street.

EXCURSION RATES.

Excursion tickets will be sold via Pennsylvania Lines for Decoration Day trips. They may be obtained May 29 and 30 at any ticket station on the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg to any station on those lines within a radius of 150 miles. A POINTED QUESTION.

The question of hitching racks that have been before council for several meetings promises to give this body plenty of study as to the best course to pursue. The start to remove one rack is going to call for the removal of several other hitching places about town. No one can deny but that these hitching places are a nuisance during the summer months when the atmosphere is hot and moist, but then they are a convenience that the public must have, particularly the farming class. It is absolutely necessary that public hitching places be provided for the good of the town. If we are not to have racks on our principle streets then council must, for the people's will, demand it, have a public hitching lot. This lot must either be purchased or rented, then it will have to be graded, racks constructed, lights put up, and provisions made for a keeper or watchman during the night time. This will necessitate an expenditure of a large amount of money, and as the condition of the town's finances are at present, this could not be done without issuing bonds, which is nothing more than a mortgage on the corporation. The corporation has during the past few years spent several hundred dollars towards the improvement about the public racks and no one class appreciates this work more than our farmers. The argument has been advanced that where racks are taken off of Main street they be put on East Xenia avenue, but here comes in the property owners on this street with a protest that such a thing is a nuisance for them and council is up against it all around. Council must either leave all racks where they are or take down all racks and provide a hitching lot. The village body should proceed in a manner that should be just and fair to our business men and to carefully keep in mind that fully seventy-five per cent of the town's business is derived from the farming class, consequently they should be granted every possible favor and convenience at the hands of council.

During the autumn of 1885 he entered Monmouth College and graduated from that institution in June, 1890. In the fall of that year he entered the Xenia Seminary, graduating from that school of prophets in the spring of 1893. He next went direct to his first charge which was the united fields of Richmond and Greely, Kansas. He was licensed by Sidney Presbytery in April, 1892, and was ordained and installed pastor by Garnett Presbytery in June, 1893. In this field he remained just five years. While there his pastorate was quite success, the roll of membership was doubled, the place of worship was remodeled and enlarged and a very elegant parsonage was erected.

In the spring of 1898 he was called to Cedarville. He took up the work on July 1 of that year and closed his pastorate last Sabbath. While here his pastorate has been marked by nothing special or phenomenal, but by a steady growth in members and missionary enthusiasm. During the pastorate just closed ninety members have been received, fifty-five by certificate and thirty-five by profession of faith. Another creditable fact is that the congregation has raised about $15000 in the past four years and eleven months. Extensive repairs on both the church and parsonage have been made at a cost of $2500 and over $5000 have been contributed to missions.

Rev. Ross is probably as forcible a speaker as the people of Cedarville ever listened to, and his sermons were always timely and practical. Not only from the pulpit has he been a strong factor towards lifting the moral standard of this community but from his work on different committees appointed to bring about a local option election. His work in this direction has always show great earnestness. His determination to carry out whatever he undertook has made him leader. During the local option fight and the prosecution of violators no one man holds the record for fearless speech as does Rev. Ross.

On Thursday Rev. and Mrs. Ross left for Washington, Iowa, where he has accepted the pastorate of the First U. P. church of that place, and the best wishes of a large circle of friends goes with them.

RIDGWAY'S TRIAL

In Mayor Thomas' Court Results
in Conviction and Heavy Fine—The Testimony.

After two delays the liquor case against Charles Ridgway, a local druggist, for violating the Beal law, was heard before Mayor Thomas, of James-town, last Friday afternoon. The case was the most important of this class that has come before the public, from the fact that the defendant was strongly in favor of local option. A Herald representative was present, but the testimony was not of the order we expected to hear. In fact it is not worth our while taking several columns to relate what was said, although we will endeavor to give the important facts from both sides. It might be said that the testimony from one of the witnesses for the defence was more damaging than some the state had to offer.

After hearing a motion from the defence, that the petition for a local option election did not contain forty per cent of the voters and that council had not taken proper action, Mayor Thomas over-ruled it, and the trial was started to grinding with Joseph Littler as the first witness for the state. He was given one dollar by Mr. E. W. Hagar to go and purchase some liquor, and accompanied by W. A. Henderson, they went to Ridgway's drug store and secured a half pint from Mr. Ridgway himself. It was then taken to Mr. Hagar's office sealed and signed by these three men and left in Mr. Hagar's care. The cross-examination endeavored in every possible way to show that the defence's arrest was done to injure him politically. When the witness was asked why the case was withdrawn from the Mayor's court at Cedarville, he stated that the mayor had said that he could not give a decision that would suit both sides, so it was withdrawn.

Littler and Henderson made their purchase on January 1st and wore afterwards in the store on the 3d and 5th. J. G. McCorkell was next called to read the minutes of council in reference to action after the local option election. He was then excused.

W. A. Henderson told practically the same story as Littler, except that his testimony in regard to how much money Mr. Hagar had given Littler was a little confused, but was valuable when Attorney Snodgrass used it in his pleading to answer the defence's attorneys in that the case was cut and dried. When questioned by the defence's attorneys Henderson said that he did not know that Ridgway's place was the headquarters for a faction of politicians or that Ridgway was a supporter of McFarland at the last election.

The next witness for the defence was E. W. Hagar who delivered the goods to the court, as it had been in his possession since Jan. 1st. Mr. Hagar corroborated the statements made by Henderson and Littler. The defence's attorneys again tried to show that the witness brought about Ridgway's arrest for political purposes. The Committees of One Hundred of both Xenia and Cedarville, Hagar being a member of the former, were the subjects for several attacks throughout the trial from the defence's attorneys. During Mr. Hagar's examination it could be seen that the defence had schooled his attorneys thoroughly on the political situation here, and to an outsider it looked like the defence forgot the issue and turned to politics.

H. M. Barber was called as to whether he had seen Ridgway Jan. 1, between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock. He could not say that he had.

The first witness for the defence was W. P. Townsley, who stated that he had heard Littler make a threat one Saturday morning in Weimer's meat store, that Ridgway would not sell him a drink and that he would have to treat all alike. Mr. Weimer was called and verified the above statement. Littler was re-called and remembered some conversation, but that it was not in the nature of a threat. He stated that he had frequently made purchases there through the summer.

Thomas Mitchell, colored, was next called and so positive were his statements that no little commotion was caused among the bystanders. Mitchell stated that Littler came to him one morning last fall after a local op-

CORONER'S VERDICT.

The horrible accident at the Miller street crossing last Friday morning when the life of John Tierney, and that of two valuable horses was taken by train No. 21, still hovers over the people of this vicinity. While Tierney might have been somewhat hard of hearing and being warned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harris, yet there is no protection for others who have to cross this crossing almost daily.

It is said that there is quite a mystery connected with the accident as to how the solid wheel from the wagon did not work its way under the engine. And this happened it is hard to tell what the result would have been.

The coroner's verdict was as follows: "He met his death by being struck over the heart by some portion of a farm wagon which was struck by fast train No. 21, of the Pennsylvania lines. I find that the proper warnings both engineer and fireman had been given before approaching the crossing." He also states that in view of the many accidents that have occurred at Cedarville crossings, the Cedarville council and the officials of the Pennsylvania line get together and devise means for the proper protection of life at said crossing.

Messrs. D. Bradute, John Fields and Ed Turnbull were appointed appraisers of Mr. James Cresswell's loss. Two horses $325, wagon $50, harness $15, total $370.

MAY DOUBLE TRACK.

The new time card for the Pennsylvania road went into effect last Sunday. Under the new schedule of trains there will be nineteen passenger trains each day pass through here between Xenia and Columbus. The reason for the change is that the company expects to make this division the through line for the St. Louis exposition traffic. Five trains that have been going over the Piqua division will now go through here.

About two weeks ago surveyors passed through here staking out a grade for a second track, to be constructed between this place and Springfield Valley. The blue prints have already been submitted and it is thought that the work will commence before long. Between here and Xenia there is one forty-five foot fill while most of the grades will have to be cut down. The double tracking from Columbus west to Alton has been completed.

Under the new time card we will have one additional train to what we have had. This train comes from Columbus and is due here about 8:45 p. m.

A Startling Test.

To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of No. Mehoopany, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes, "A patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first, and has not had an attack in 14 months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. Only 60c at B. G. Ridgway's.

WHEN YOU TALK

Have Something to Say, Say It, Then Stop

From "Letters From a Self-Made Merchant to His Son," by George Horner

Dear Pierpont—Yours of the 4th has the right ring, and it says more to the number of words used than any letter that I have ever received from you. I remember reading once that some fellows use language to conceal thought, but it's been my experience that a good many more use it instead of thought.

A business man's conversation should be regulated by fewer and simpler rules than any other function of the human animal. They are:

Have something to say.

Say it.

Stop talking.

Beginning before you know what you want to say and keeping on after you have said it lands a merchant in a lawsuit or the poorhouse, and the first is a short cut to the second. I maintain a legal department here, and it costs a lot of money, but it's to keep me from going to law.

It's all right when you are calling on a girl or talking with friends at dinner to run a conversation like a Sunday school excursion, with stops to pick flowers, but in the office your sentences should be the shortest distance possible between periods. Cut out the introduction and the peroration and stop before you get to secondly. You've got to preach about sermons to catch stammers, and deacons won't believe they need long ones themselves. Give fools the first and women the last word. The meat's always in the middle of the sandwich. Of course a little butter on either side of it doesn't do any harm if it's intended for a man who likes butter.

Remember, too, that it's easier to look wise than to talk wisdom. Say less than the other fellow and listen more than you talk, for when a man's listening he isn't telling on himself and he's flatter the fellow who is. Give most men a good listener and most women enough note paper and they'll tell all they know.

Brain Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been strangled by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get this reliable remedy at all druggists. Prices 25c and 75c.

People Who Can't Sleep.

Many people go to bed not to sleep, but to think—to tumble and toss—to get up, walk about until tired Nature gives way and a few fitful hours sleep are obtained just before dawn—a sleep that does not rest—a sleep from which one wakes weary and tired, wholly unfitted to take up the daily routine of household, shop or office duties. That this condition goes on uncorrected for is almost criminal, when the well-known time-tried and tested powers of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills to give restful natural sleep have been so fully proven in such cases.

Mrs. Isabella Cross of 322 W. Church St., Xenia, Ohio, says:—I was a sufferer from severe nervousness, sleeplessness and dizziness. I was advised to try Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and as a result of their use find my nervous system in splendid shape again—my sleep natural and restful and the old time dizziness entirely gone. Consequently I feel I can't recommend the medicine too highly as a splendid nerve and general tonic. For further information call at Ridgway & Co's. Why a Painter Smiles

The practical painter says, it makes him smile when a man insists on Patton's Sun-Proof Paint. It always means another job from the man next door. Envy is just another name for human nature.

Patton's Sun-Proof Paint

is famous for its lasting qualities. Made from a scientific formula of the best materials, machine mixed in exact proportions, it is the only paint that resists the sun and weather. Never peels, cracks or chinks off, and guaranteed to last for five years. Send for book of Paint Knowledge and Advice (free) to PATTON PAINT CO., 1 Lake St., Milwaukee, Wis.

COMMENCEMENT.

The 27th annual commencement of the Cedarville High School was held in the opera house last Friday evening. The stage was fitly decorated for the occasion with the class colors, blue and gold, and palms and flowering plants.

The class of eight young ladies and one young man, the Board of Education, newly elected superintendent and the professor of the class marched to their places on the stage while the S. of V. orchestra rendered a selection.

Rev. W. J. Sanderson offered the invocation, after which came the orations by a different members of the class. Miss Ethel Collins, in her oration "Only a Girl," showed that some of the greatest works in the history of the world were accomplished by brave girls. She referred to women that have proven able doctors, artists and authors, poets and historians. Reference was made to Queen Elizabeth who "firmly established the foundation upon which there now stands the strongest nation of the globe."

With Bonaparte and Wellington characterized, Miss Fern Ervin spoke of "The Key of Success," her three topics being system, energy and perseverance, for unfavorable circumstances are never an excuse for failure.

"A Star of the First Magnitude" by Mabel Grindle, was a theme that well applied to our own state because of her pre-eminence in education, politics, war and industry.

Miss Eva Matthews on "The Poetry of Everyday Life," grouped England's nobles in the forest of Arden in the shadows of the great oaks. Miss Matthews beautifully pictured "The Poetry of Everyday Life."

Miss Eleanor Smith in a very graceful manner spoke of life as each one sees it. How differently persons regard it, holding that life was unanswerable even to the insect. Such was "He Who Loveth Not is Dead."

"Home" by Miss Beattie Sterrett, who showed that fine walks of brick and mortar did not make the home, but a business man hold it as a place of rest.

Miss Edna Townsley on "Athens and Jerusalem" was well handled. She stated as to why the two cities never die and made an excellent comparison. Miss Townsley delivered her oration with eloquence.

"The Second Fiddle" by Miss Margaretta Watt, was one of the most pleasing orations of the evening. The application of the second fiddle in the orchestra was likened unto the mother of the family, with the father, as the first. Only the purest and sweetest notes will come from the great orchestra, if each does not grumble at his position.

Ralph Wolford, on "Commercial Supremacy," portrayed in a business-like manner the topic he had selected. There is an influence from work that has considerable to do about shaping the destiny of a nation. Mr. Wolford in tender words addressed the class, board and superintendent.

The closing of the exercises by an excellent address by Prof. R. A. Brown ended one of the greatest commencements ever held in Cedarville.

John W. Townsley, of Jamestown, sold his famous trotting sire, Royalwood, at the Fabis & Tipton sale at Cleveland last week for $1,300. The horse was bought for export and goes to Russia. He was 13 years old.

KILLED BY CARS.

The body of Dan Tomlinson was found on the Big Four track about fifteen feet east of the East street crossing by C. C. Peale and Arthur Gathiel, Monday evening about 8 o'clock, where it remained until viewed by Coroner Evans.

The lad's head was crushed in, the frontal bone being severely mashed. He was lying on the south side of the track, while his left elbow was inside the track, the arm being mashed into a pulp. It was sometime before he was identified. He was about 16 years of age and lived with his widowed mother on East North street within a short distance of where he met his death.

As no one witnessed the accident, the coroner's verdict will probably be "death by being run over by train No. 50 (local freight), no blame attached to any one."

It is a very sad case, as the lad was the oldest son of a widow and was arriving at an age to be of some assistance to her.

Whether it was the result of jumping on and off the cars will probably never be known, but it should be a warning to those who indulge in that practice.

Funeral services at 4 o'clock this (Wednesday) afternoon. Interment at Fountain Park Cemetery.—Winchester News.
